REMARKS:

During the war, Momcilo Djuic, an Orthodox priest, was Mihailovic's Commander in the like area north of Split.1/ Although decorated by King Peter with the Star Korageorge with Sword,2/ and reported as having fought the Partisans, Ustashas 3/ and the Germans,4/ and as having been glorified as a National Hero by Mihailovic,4/ varied reports describe Djuic as a collaboratorist and war criminal. One source accused him of collaboration with the Ustashi;5/ another of collaboration with the Italians;4/ while still another states he mobilized peasants in the Kosovo area under German orders.6/ Mihailovic himself declared of Djuic that he collaborated with the enemy to such an extent as to have caused unpleasantness for the entire organization.7/

Djuic's status has been summed up very nicely in Ally Betrayed when the author states that his case illustrates how complicated was the mosaic of the civil war and how difficult it sometimes can be to decide whether a man is a traitor or a true patriot.1/
